

I am glad that I no longer get the annoying calls from telemarketers. I have received calls on Sunday and late into the evening. I do not wish to do business on the phone with someone I do not know. With the amount of Identity stealing happening, it is not wise to give information to unknown callers.